Richelle Sigrist considered herself a "closet singer" from an early age. Yet, she caught the eyes and ears of those around her. At the age of 21, she started singing with her brother-in-law at shows in downtown Fort Smith, AR. Her love for singing drew her towards the worship team at her long-time church. Sitting under incredible worship leaders and drawing from their experiences, she grew her skills and led multiple teams of talented musicians at different churches in Stillwater and Cushing, OK.

In 2014, at 39 years old and with the support of her family, she decided to start a band and explore the art of songwriting. She began by studying and playing cover songs ranging from Otis Redding's "Dock of the Bay" to Gnarl's Barkley's "Crazy" to ZZ Ward's "If I Could Be Her". The community quickly embraced her with regular performances requested by local establishments.

Richelle released her debut album Eyes of a Stranger in January 2018. With influences such as Ray Charles, Bonnie Raitt, and Sheryl Crow as well as ZZ Ward, Jonny Lang, and Chris Stapleton, Richelle's music can only be described in two words: Gypsy Blues.

She is currently booking gigs and writing for her follow-up album.
